2. Brief School History

The school is located exactly 37 kilometers from Mongar and 40 kilometers to Lhuentse. According to the 2008 edition of Sherig Saga, it's mentioned about the name and meaning, (Autsho ཨུཤོ་མཚོ་) meaning 'Sister Lake'. (ཨུཤོ་) means 'elder sister' in their local dialect which is Cho-cha-nga-cha-Kha and (མཚོ་) means 'lake'. In the earlier days, it is believed that two sister lake from upper Kurtoe ran away along the Kurichu valley for their security. During their journey to the south, the sister lake denied to continue their journey and hang around at current place called Autsho. After that they named this place as Autsho.

According to a local, Lopen Kezang who is a retired teacher of this school and a senior citizen, “The current land of Autsho doesn’t belong to people of Autsho in olden days, the present small stupa in the heart of Autsho act as sat-sham (Land demarcation) between Domkhar and lower kurichu regions. The people from Domkhar have to reach there for receptions and to see-off Ku-gongma (higher officials) like spiritual and administrative leaders. However, they used to spend night at Autsho while they were traveling to Gudama: most probably “a go down in the past” i.e. currently called Samdrupjongkhar to get salt and other essential goods.

Aum Jangchuk Dema, 60, said, “The community of Domkhar sold its land to one of the landlord called Lopen Norzin and Aum Tshomo with 1000 kg of rice, a pig, few Palang (wine container) of Chang (local wine) and other food grains. Later he sold his land to other local people and merchants. This is how current place called ‘Autsho’ came into existence. The name of the place originated from the presence of an evil lake at the place called tshothang. The lake was later turned into a holy spring (Drupchhu) by Guru Rinpochoe.

Educating children was extremely different for the people of Autsho and nearby villages. They have to send their children to far away schools such as Wambur, Zangzhar, Lhuentse and even to Mongar before the establishment of this school. So they proposed to the Government to open a school for the locality. The school would cater to the people of Tsenkhar, Jarrey and nearby Geogs of Lhuentse Dzongkhag. The school enrolls students from Austsho town, Phawan, Chabi, Yangla, Dongthrom and Peladraphu villages. The school is now named as Austho Central School from academic session 2016. The school now has the students ranging from classes PP – X providing boarding facilities and day meals to all the day students. The government also provides a special package of beddings, uniforms, sports wears and stationeries at free of cost besides many other usual free facilities which normally are not catered to the students of other schools.

The people of this village was depends on solar lights which was supplied by the government of Rajasthan. Now the farm road was connected, other facilities such as lights and networks were in place. This place is one of the blessings for people of this village as there were important Neys and many Lhakhang or temples guided by high post Trekus, Khenpos and Lamas. ## 6. Brief History of the School Gortshom Primary School was established in the year 1991. It has been serving as the premiere institute to educate the youths of Maedtsho geog since its establishment. About 95% of the students come from poor family back ground. Farming is the major source of income of the people of this gewog. The school is located in remote place and it is 52km away from the Lhuentse Dzong.

The name of the school was derived from the name of the village, Gortshom. Gor literally means stone or rock for the Bumthaps and Khengpas. Tshom means mortar for the people speaking kurtoep and khengkha. Thus, the name of the village was derived from the stone mortars which are found at three different places around the school. They are known to have existed since pre-historic times. It is believed that the name was given by a renowned monk of the Dratshang at the time of his visit to Bumthang via this area

The school was formally inaugurated in 1991 by Dasho Sherub Gyeltshen, the former Dzongda of Lhuentse Dzongkhag. Initially, the school was only up to class III. After graduating class III, the students were sent to Zangkhar Primary School to continue their studies. The school was upgraded to Primary school in 2001. Currently the school has classes ranging from Pre Primary to Class VI.

5. Strategies and Activities

“Educating for GNH cites ways and means with which GNH values can be ingrained in schools, pillar-wise. Schools are seen as part of the larger community and the child must be taught to serve the community. A GNH school must ensure there is justice and equity in the way the principals, deal with teachers and teachers with students. Children have to be taught to promote mutual respect and cooperation – between the educated, intellectual and the ignorant. Conditions must be created for the children to think, reflect and show concern. Love and care for the environment and nature should be imbibed young.

Green schools can be nurtured through a harmonious co-existence of the various areas that shape a child’s development in the school system, which are cultivated and distilled through eight dimensions of green school: Environmental greenery, Intellectual greenery, Academic greenery, Social greenery, Cultural greenery, Spiritual greenery, Aesthetic greenery and Moral greenery. A green School builds and promotes an active involvement of the parents and the community in education of the children. It also prepares children for the world of work as well as life”.

Class Range:	PP-VI
Number of Teaching Staff:	7
Support Staff:	6
Total Students:	75
Total boy Students:	24

2. Brief History of the school

Thrumshingla is the highest pass of country called DrukYul located between Bumthang and Mongar Dzongkhag. From there one can have a beautiful and lovely view of many places of different dzongkhags. One of them is Jarey gewog of Lhuentse dzongkhag at its base towards the East. Jarey gewog is a very beautiful and peaceful place irrespective of people with different economic back ground. The gewog has about 200 households with just one primary school (Zangkhar Primary School) to get their children educated till 1991. During that period of time parents of four villages (Yumchey, Kharchung, Ladrong and Ngangey) faced lots of difficulties in educating their children because of the distance between school and their villages. They could not send their children to school to get modern education despite knowing that it is indispensable part of their life instead they have to go for second option, training them as layman monk.

In the beginning of the year 1991 much to the enchantment of parents and children of these four villages come news from Dzongkhag administration that the school is going to be started instantaneously at Ladrong; originally the place is known as Lhadrong (village of Lha Tshangpa). On 10th March 1991 Ladrong Primary School was inaugurated by head of the school and some local leaders near Ladrong Lhakhang (The Lhakhang founded by Tertoen Drimed Lingpa) as temporary classroom. It was a one stored hut constructed by local people. On 11th March during the time of admission, the head of the school was taken aback to see most of the children who came for admission were between fifteen to seventeen years old. Some of them were even taller than the teachers but calm and polite. The school started with Mr. K. Dar Sharma as a head of school with two other teachers and two sections of class PP (about sixty students). Since the school was very near to Lhakhang there were a lot of disturbances during instructional time as well as it became exigent task for teachers and students to keep the school surrounding clean. As a result, after two years the school was shifted to new location towards the north at a place called Buenmathi. The classroom and staff quarters were built from bamboos and woods. There wasn't any proper playground and water supply as it is located on a sloppy area. Small students faced lots of problems reaching the school on time as almost every student have to face uphill walk of about two kilometers. Keeping all the unavoidable circumstances in mind the head of Gewog and Dzongkhag administration began to look for safe and permanent location for school. Finally, they came up with the solution that the new and permanent location of school is going to be at Gorgan (current location of Ladrong Primary School) which is about twenty minutes walking from Gewog centre. Immediately, construction works were started and school structure began to form. It was a four units two stored building built out of cements and CGI sheets as its roof first of its kind in Jarrey gewog. It was in mid 1995 students of Ladrong Primary School got an opportunity to pursue their education in a building after being in a temporary classroom for more than four arduous years. School is a day school and students are provided with breakfast and lunch through RGoB support.

4. Brief History

Lhuentse Primary School is located on the slope, overlooking the Majestic Lhuentse Dzong and Kuri Chhu. Locally the place is widely known as Tshompaling and therefore, even today majority of people name the school as Tshompaling Primary School while the school has long been registered as Lhuentse Primary School. The school campus comprises an area of 11.23 acres above and adjacent to the Royal Guest House. The school was established in the year 1959, first as a Hindi Medium School and later introduced to English Medium. It is the oldest of all schools in the Dzongkhag. In the early eighties, it was upgraded to Junior High school and existed in the same grade until 1994. Later it was downgraded to Primary school as the classes VII and VIII were shifted to Tangamchu, after the construction of MSS. However, due to the heavy pressure of student enrollment in Tangmachu, being the one and only MSS in the Dzongkhag, this school having to share the admission pressure was re-upgraded to LSS in the year 2000.

The school had boarding facility until 2003 but, with the completion of Lhuentse HSS, Classes VII to VIII were shifted and as a result, this school was downgraded to primary school in 2004 for the second time and is Primary School until today. The old infrastructures were dismantled and new construction with modern school standard was carried out in the year 2004. In 2012, with the initiative of teachers and Principal came up with Jampelyang Statue and is installed in front of assembly ground. Then in 2015, the school initiated and constructed one prayer wheel (Mani Dungkhor) beside the academic block. The school now looks beautiful with little space comprising of two main academic blocks with 12 classrooms, an administrative building and a Mani Dungkhor.

Lhuentse Primary School is also the first Primary school to have IT Lab in the Dzongkhag. It was initially set up by NIIT in 2012, to provide training for the civil servants at Lhuentse Dzongkhag. Then in 2014, the lab was handed over to the school and ICT classes once a week was started from 2017 for classes IV to VI students. After the construction of MPH in 2015, the school has become independent and carries out variety of indoor activities.

- To provide wholesome education

5. Brief Background of the School

Ney Primary School was established in 1991. Ney literally means holy place. The people of Ney consider the place to be a sacred door to the secret lands of Khenpajong, which was once blessed by great saint, Guru Padmasambhava. Khenpajong is two days walk from the village.

The school is situated in the North of Lhuentse Dzong in the midst of towering snow capped mountains, some of which remain glistening and without melting through the days of summer also. The school is accessible by farm road extending approximately over 30 km from the Dzongkhag Headquarter.

The school was first started by a lone teacher in-charge, Mr. K. Dhan Sharma with 49 students in class PP. The school was then known as Ney Extended Classroom. He was relieved by Mr. Sangay Dorji who served from 2002 to 2004. The additional three unit classroom and present principal quarter was built during his time. The school also received mid-day WFP meal in 2003.

Today, the school has classes from PP to V with only handful of students, the cause of which may be attributed to the village people migrating to the urban areas looking for greener pastures. The total number of households in the village increased to over 100 with His Majesty's resettlement programme in 2013. The school also caters to ECCD programmes which commenced in 2015. There are 14 children accessing to the ECCD facilities with one ECCD facilitator.

The school was visited by Gyaltshab Jigme Dorji Wangchuk, accompanied by former Sherig Lyonpo, Norbu Wangchuk in 2015 to inaugurate the resettlement programme.

- Build children with appropriate knowledge, skills and values to cope with the challenges of the 21st Century through an ever energetically positive role models, inspiration and encouragement by using all the resources available in the school and community.

4. Brief Background of the School

A midst the numerous foothills and valleys alongside the swollen brook of Onggar stream with a mesmerizing glimpse of Rodungla Pass and the stretches of enormous lush green fields lies one of the most remote hamlets known to the early times of people as ‘Om-gar’. This rural community as the name suggests, has its history dating back to early 15th century.

‘Om’ literally means a ‘stagnant water or a pond’ to our term and ‘gar’ means ‘a camp’ made out of bamboo shoots in local dialect of the people of this hamlet. Thus, the ‘Omgar’ is the contracted form of the words- Om and gar. However, as the time passed by, the people of this community mispronounced it as ‘Onggar’, which retains the name even to this day.

Prior to the coming of this school into existence, many children of this village had to go to Zangkhar Community Primary School, one of the oldest schools in Bhutan. Their kith and kins who were residing outside Lhuentse were taking a few of the privileged ones. Nevertheless, the only school i.e. Zangkhar CPS did not favor the parents of children to send their children to that school attributed to many reasons. The school was many miles from this village and it was estranged by numerous lofty hills and swollen streams. Thus, access to education for the youths of this community was sublimely difficult. Many children had been deprived of the formal schooling. Most of them have given their life to celibacy.

The school formally began on August 20, 1993 in a small thatched house somewhere in a distant place. When the school was beginning to give birth, a rush of parents wanted their children to enroll in the school. The formal academic session started with a good number of students with a teacher. However, the institute had to be closed down owing to the swollen streams amid the school and the village. It remained closed for 4 years. The dream of receiving the formal education to the children was once again shattered.

Again, the need of the school has been felt immensely and that time, the school was to be constructed in the heart of their community. The academic session officially started on May 20, 2002 by Mr. Nima Dorji with 31 students. The school was upgrade from classes III to VI in the year 2008. From the year 2013 the school was downgraded to ECR due to the education policy. Currently the school has 20 students studying in classes PP to III with 2 teachers.

6. MOTTO: “Together We Can”

7. Brief History

“Tangmachu” as the legend says that the place was frequently visited by tigers/tigresses to drink water from a lake the then Yambrang tsho, which can be seen at present as a marshy place near the school. People often heard tiger roaring from a small pass and based on it, people named the place as “Tak – Kay – La” meaning the tiger roaring pass (Tak means Tiger; Kay means roar; La means Pass). The settlement near Yambrang Tsho, which is below Tak – Kay – La, came to be known as “Tag – Mo – Chhu” meaning tigress’ water (Tagmo means tigress and Chhu means water). Since the school is located nearby Tag – Mo – Chhu, the school also assumed the name “Tag – Mo – Chhu” which gradually became “Tangmachu” due to dilution in its pronunciation.

Tangmachu Central School under Maenbi gewog, Lhuentse Dzongkhag is located at the heart of Maenbi gewog community on the knoll of Takila at an altitude of about 1700 m above sea level. The school was first of its kind in Bhutan built under the Primary Education Project (PEP) funded by the World Bank. The year 1994 brought a big transformation to the place with the coming up of many constructions in the midst of dense chirpine forests. It was on 9th April 1994 that a new school was established and named Tangmachu Junior High School which was actually established as a relocation of Lhuentse Junior High School. Mr. Jigme Thinley was the first Headmaster who was transferred from Lhuentse JHS along with the students of classes VII and VIII. In the first year, the school had 180 students and 11 teachers out of which 7 teachers were expatriates. The school did not have an access to electricity supply until the school was lighted by a 40 KV generator in 1995. The school had a scope for extension since its initial establishment with its spacious school area and its rapid increase in student enrolment. The school was upgraded to a high school in March 1997 and since then; the school has been receiving students from many Dzongkhags as far as Samtse, S/Jongkhar and Trashiyangtse besides Lhuentse Dzongkhag with its first batch of 128 students in class X appeared ICSE examinations in 1999.

The school is now connected to almost all the modern communication facilities, the school today has become conducive for higher pursuit of education with infrastructures and facilities spread over an area of 37.668 acres of land. Today the school is an ideal learning centre surrounded by a beautiful campus with sweet aroma of flowers, lying calm and quite buried under the tall chirpine trees. The school always aspired to become the model school in the Dzongkhag and as a part of School Reform Project in 2014, the school has been chosen as one of the central schools amongst first 24 in the country. With the consolidation of two schools, the then Tangmachu MSS and Tagmochu PS till 2014; the school became Central School from the academic year 2015 and in 2019, the school was upgraded to Higher Secondary School and the school now has the students ranging from classes PP – XII providing boarding facilities and day meal to all the day students.

2. Brief History of the school

This school is located in Lhuentse Dzongkhag, under Gangzor Gewog, on a slope which is just about 10 minutes' walk from Nongma chortens, the road point which heads to Dungkar, (a historical place where Dungkar Chhojay was established and was a residential place of the great grandfather of our present king). The site where the school is located was previously used as a farmland by the people of this locality. The land was later donated for the construction of the new community primary school by the people in 1998. The construction work started from 1999 and was completed in 2000.

The actual name of this place is called Langabee (five oxen headed with the snake body). The name was later on changed to Thimyul, meaning the sunken village. According to one version of the story, the community of this area believes that this valley sank down due to heavy flood. Another version of the story tells that a group of people from Trashigang came for Ney (the pilgrimages) and they failed to return to their home town due to the exhaustion of their ration. So they had no option then to settle down in this valley, which they then named as Thimyul, meaning the settled down village. This can be the true story with the evidences that the community of this valley speaks Sharchokpa language, instead of Kurtoep and this is the only community who speaks Sharchop in Lhuentse Dzongkhag.

The school was started with 112 day scholar students in 19th June, 2000 in three semi-permanent buildings and one teacher's quarter, under the head teacher Mr. Karma Phuntsho with other two teachers. The other additional temporary sheds were built by the community. The school serves for two Tshogpas i.e.; Nimshong, Magar and Somshing.

In 2003, the head teacher Phurba Namgyal took over the charge of the school with 170 students and three teachers. The school at that time was equipped least with the infrastructure. There was only volley ball court.

In 2004, the school received WFP feeding for day scholars. Moreover, the school was recognized as the centre of cluster school and received Resource Centre facilities from the Education. And then the community constructed temporary kitchen, the WFP store and the dining hall, but RC building was constructed permanently with the help of budget funded by World Bank.

Due to the out growing number of children and the various problem encountered by the community to send their children to the far away boarding schools after completion of class VI, the Gup, Chimi and the teachers felt the need of up grading the school from community primary school to lower secondary school. In 2006 they forwarded the proposal to the Ministry of Education through Dzongkhag Education officer for up grading the school. The proposal was approved by the secretary of education Dr. Pema Thinley.

At prompt, the community took initiatives to construct the temporary shelter for the teachers and the classrooms in the winter of 2006. By the spring 2007, the community finished constructing one temporary teacher's quarter and two classrooms.

In 2008, the Principal Pema Kelden took over the charge of the school with 260 students and 13 teaching staff, one librarian, one office assistant, one laboratory in-charge and three cooks. The school at that time was equipped least with the infrastructure. There was only volley ball court.

From the academic year 2011 Mr. Rinchen Wangdi took over as the new Principal. At present, the school has 267 students ranging from class PP to VIII. At present the school has 16 teaching staff including Principal and Vice Principal (12 gents & 4 ladies), one IT Lab Asstt, One Store In charge, one library Asstt, two office assistant, one laboratory Asstt, one SSI, school care-taker, sweeper and two cooks. We had the thirteenth batch of LSSCE (class VIII) graduating in 2020. The school is now accessible to Administration block, computer facilities, the library, science laboratory, Multipurpose Hall, Football ground, basketball court, hand wash station, concrete WFP cum Store (constructed in 2014 under the support from WFP) and assembly ground.

It overlooks Domkhar village and other village such and Bangtsho; Gortshom can be viewed well from the school. It was started in 1997 by Mr. Nima Lama, the first head teacher of the school with 39 students enrolled in class PP. It caters education to the children of main Tshenkhar village which consist of more than 150 households. The school is connected by 20 kms farm road from Autsho since 2009 and around 20 kms farm road from Phawan in the year 2017.

The school has assumed its name Tshochen which means the largest community. In Lhuentse Dzongkhag, Tsenkhar geog is one of the biggest geog and Tsenkhar village consist of the largest community in its goeg. Another story states that ‘Tshochen’ means the large lake. There existed a large lake near by the present location of the school. It dried and moved away to another place. There is a trace of marshy area in that place today.

In 1995, the community of Tsenkhar village proposed for a community school to be established in their village to Lhuentse Dzongdag, Dasho Sherab Gyeltshen during his visit to this village on his way back to Lhuentse from pilgrimage to Phunying la. He accepted the proposal and the community stated the construction immediately. In 1997, the initial constructions were complete. In the same year. Mr. Nima Lama joined and started the school as the first head teacher. As years progressed by a lot of changes were seen for the school. At present, the school has four academic building which consists of 14 rooms and 4 blocks of staff quarters with six units. The aqua-privy toilet for students was constructed through Gewog developmental activities in 2005. Prior to the establishment of the school, most of the children in Tsenkhar village did not have access to education and thus they were not educated because they could not send their children to school (Wambur PS), which is about a day walk from their village. Now, many parents are able to send their children to school. The school has played a vital role to influence the people on improving their health and hygiene of their village.
